

CONNERS SUGGESTS SMITH FOR SENATOR

But Erie County Man Insists on Hearst for Governor.

SAYS HYLAN CAN'T RUN
And Former Chief Executive
Could Not Afford Albany Job.

Preparatory to departing for Erie county in the hope of demonstrating that he has at least as much political power in his own bailiwick as William H. Fitzpatrick, William J. Conners, custodian of the Hearst gubernatorial boom, issued a deft of his own yesterday, throwing down whatever it is that passes for the gaudiest these days to Tammany Hall, Al Smith and all sundry who oppose Mr. Hearst.

Mr. Conners very nearly threw down Mr. Hearst himself, for he will have none of Mr. Hearst's suggestion that Mayor Hyman be the gubernatorial candidate. It must, so Conners says, be Mr. Hearst who heads the Democratic ticket. Smith could never be elected even if nominated, and this will please the friends of Al—Conners would be glad to let Smith run for United States Senator on the same ticket with Hearst.

It didn't take Conners any time at all to scotch the idea that Hyman might be a compromise candidate.

"Mr. Hearst's name is going to the convention," he said most emphatically. "Nothing can stop that; it is positive. Mayor Hyman is not a candidate and cannot be a candidate. I know what I am talking about. When the time comes Mr. Hyman will be right there in the convention working for Mr. Hearst."

Mr. Hearst never having expressed himself clearly on the point, Mr. Conners was asked whether he was speaking for himself alone in asserting that beyond question Mr. Hearst's name would be presented at the convention in Syracuse the latter part of next month.

"I am speaking for myself, for Mr. Hearst and for the people," said Conners, as emphatic as ever. "And I will guarantee right now that if Mr. Hearst is offered the nomination he will accept it."

It was recalled that in the recent courteous interchange of compliments Mr. Hearst had expressed the belief that Mr. Hyman was the man to run. Conners replied that the fact that Hearst and Hyman are in the fullest accord in their political views was sufficient explanation for the letters.

"The contest at the convention," he went on, "will be between Al Smith and Hearst. There are no other candidates. Now I ask you how can Smith be a candidate for Governor in view of the record of his own gubernatorial administration and the issues in the coming campaign?"

"I think," he added, "that Smith would make a good candidate for Senator, but he can't afford to give up a $50,000 a year job in the trucking business to take the job at Albany."

Conners pooh-poohed the idea that what Smith and Hearst have said about each other in the past would make any real difference. Such things were usually of no importance in a campaign. But the objection to Smith as a gubernatorial candidate was that his Public Service Commission had increased car fares and telephone rates—very much, Conners says, that will be an issue in the campaign. Hearst, he said, has fought these increases, and if the Democrats are going to pick "the one big issue" they must have a candidate who can defend a platform dealing with that issue.

Conners said his fight against Fitzpatrick in Erie had already begun. He leaves tomorrow to take charge of it. Conners, however, doesn't want to be one of the Erie delegates to the convention himself; he will be content to fight outside the lines.

MOTHER OF 8 CHILDREN DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Then Clifton, N. J., Woman
Kisses Them Good-by and Dies

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Anna Komnick, 42, of Cutler street, Clifton, mother of eight children, died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson, to-day after drinking carboic acid in her home yesterday, according to the police. Afterward, despite the terrible pain, Mrs. Komnick walked downstairs, kissed her children good-by and went to the kitchen, where she collapsed. She is said to have borrowed money from a neighbor to buy the poison. The police say she had quarreled with her husband.

Anna Bongiorno, 18, daughter of Joseph Bongiorno of 15 Federal street, Clifton, died in Passaic General Hospital to-day from having swallowed bicloride of mercury on August 2. Her mother is unable to account for her act, but says she may have been despondent. She had never been very well since she had influenza three years ago.

NEGRESS SLAIN WITH AX, POLICE SEEK HUSBAND

Body Found in Cellar With Head Split Open.

Mrs. Lena Brown, 40 years old, a negress, of 3516 Mermaid avenue, Coney Island, was found dead in the basement of a furnished room house at 2964 West Thirtieth street, Coney Island, yesterday, with her head split open by an ax. Her husband is the janitor of the house and the police are looking for him.

Brown and his wife, according to their children, who lived with the mother, had been separated for some time. Elizabeth, one of the girls, told the police that her father called at their home Friday, intoxicated, and threatened that he would kill their mother if she did not go with him to the house where he was employed and keep him company. She went, but returned to her home later, saying her husband had fallen asleep from drink. He missed her at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, Elizabeth said, and returned to her home, forcing her to accompany him back to the rooming house. When the children made inquiry for her at the rooming house later she was not to be found and their father had, taking his clothes with him, in the afternoon the body of Mrs. Brown, wrapped in a blanket, was found in an unused basement room. The walls were bespattered with blood and an ax, blood stained and with hair clinging to its blade, was found near by.
